also impetus was given to the commerce with Australia. During the nine months which have elapsed since Heilow, in Hainan, was formally opened to trade, twenty-seven vessels, with a capacity equal to 15,495 tons, have arrived here from that port, which the Harbour-Master rightly considers a very fair beginning. No doubt this trade will expand in a considerable degree during the current year. The junk trade of the Colony again shows a decided increase, both in that carried on with the coast and in that falling off in that between this port and Macao. Captain Thomson does not attempt to give any reason for this increase, contenting himself by observing that "the fluctuations of the junk trade are very uncertain and unaccountable." Perhaps, however, it may be partially accounted for by the fact that since 1874 this coast has been free from any very disastrous typhoons, and the number of junks has probably grown in consequence. Moreover, the shortness of the rice crops in China has necessitated a considerable import of grain from Coochin China, a good deal of which has doubtless been re-shipped from Hongkong. The trade, however, is still far from what it should be, and it is the illegal exactions of the Canton Customs Authorities were discontinued. With regard to emigration it appears that there has been a decline, 1,802 fewer emigrants having left here than in the previous year. This is not surprising, considering that emigration has practically ceased to the United States for some time. The falling-off is confined entirely to California; to other countries there has, in fact, been an increase of more than two thousand persons. After the United States, the greatest number went to Coochin, the gold fields of Queensland being the source of attraction. A large number of Chinese returned to Hongkong last year than in 1875, and but for the outcry raised against their immigration in the Pacific States of America, the total number of emigrants in 1876 would have considerably exceeded that of the preceding year. The want of facilities for the proper performance of quarantine at Coochin are commented on by the Harbour-Master, and the case of the steamer Macon noticed. The loss to the authorities of that vessel has been considerable, and it behooves the Authorities at Coochin to see that its future provision is made for dealing with such cases, without involving the owners in loss and subjecting the passengers to unnecessary inconvenience.

This telegram received on the Eastern Question are, and perhaps necessarily, unsatisfactory. It is almost impossible to know what to infer from, as almost each succeeding one seems to contradict the other. Thus, in one Russia is represented as threatening to tear up the Treaty of 1856 unless the other Great Powers will co-operate in the programme laid down in the Conference, and in the next she is stated to have put forth fresh proposals for collective action on the part of the Powers. It is difficult to understand really what is the Czar's policy. From his actions during the past few months, it would appear that he is in a state of vacillation—"letting it ride" not wait upon it. He has alternately threatened and given in. But all the while the preparations for war have gone on, and it is possible that the bluster has been used to divert attention from his real designs. In the winter, it is well known, the Russian army could do little, owing to the swollen condition of the rivers and the heavy frosts. Besides this, Russia has everything to gain by delay. Not only is she perfecting her military organization, but she is keeping Turkey in a state of armed expectancy, which entails a fearful strain upon the Ottoman treasury. Interfering with business in a serious degree. Moreover, the Czar, like the great Mikado, is doubtless in hopes of something turning up in the meantime. If he could but manage to see two of the other Great Continental Powers by the ears his path would be greatly smoothed. And as in the present condition of affairs there is plenty of material for a grand eruption of international jealousies and animosities, the expectation is not quite so wild as some people may be inclined to imagine. It is also significant that Montenegro has obstinately stuck to her demands, evidently in the belief that hostilities will yet take place, in which case this little principality doubtless thinks she could make better terms even if she did not once more draw the sword. Taking all things into consideration, it is by no means certain that the crisis has been averted, or that Russia means to allow the opportunity to escape. The Czar is not personally anxious for war, perhaps, with Europe's disapproval, but there is a strong party in Russia who will not hear of drawing back at this stage.

The steamer Nestor has arrived at, and the M. S. steamer Anadyr left Shanghai on the 10th instant.

We are requested to intimate that the jurors summoned for the Criminal Sessions to-day will not be required to attend, but they may be in Court at an hour on Thursday next.

Notice is given in the Chronicle of Saturday that His Majesty's Secretary of State has approved the appointment of Baron von Soden to be Acting Consul for His Imperial German Majesty at this port.

It is notified in Saturday's Chronicle that H. E. the Administrator has appointed Mr. S. B. B. and Mr. A. B. to be valuers for the present year for the purposes of Ordinance No. 12 of 1875.

Notice is given in Saturday's Chronicle that H. E. the Administrator has appointed Mr. S. B. B. and Mr. A. B. to be valuers for the present year for the purposes of Ordinance No. 12 of 1875.

The British Royal Geographical Society has had the whole of Dr. Deeny's recent report on the ports of Hainan, in Hainan, and of Hainan in Annam translated into German and published. She will be despatched here on Tuesday, the 24th inst., at 11 a.m. instead of at 10 a.m. as previously notified.

The Report of the Shanghai Municipal Council for 1876 has been published, and is an interesting document. The total foreign population of the port on the 31st Dec last amounted to 1,673, of whom 1,066 were males, 299 females, and 291 children. 575 were British, 598 were from the United States, 191 Americans and West Indians, 39 Asiatics, 6 Europeans, and 1 Negro. The native population is computed at 95,000, of whom 7,549 live entirely aloof—Fuchow Island.

At the Peak the maximum temperature during the past week, as recorded in Saturday's Chronicle, was 60.0, the minimum 40.0; at the Harbour-Master's Office, Praya Water, the maximum was 67.5, and the minimum 45.5. The wind fell during the week.

The Straits Times of the 9th instant says an accident has befallen the O. S. S. Co.'s steamer Stentor. It consisted of the splitting of her low pressure piston in the working passage. The damaged piston is to be sent down to Singapore for repair, the steamer remaining in Penang, and it is expected that the detention will not exceed a fortnight. The repairs to the piston steamer Uganda are, the Times says, being proceeded with at the Tanjong Pagar Dock, and the steamer will in all probability be ready to proceed on her voyage to China by the end of this month.

The British ship Irrepress, bound for Newcastle, to Singapore, was lost on the 17th inst. by fire.
